

The Children and Young People's Plan 2009 - 2012 for the City of York

VISION

York is a city making history and its children are our future. Every child and young person in York deserves the chance to reach their full potential and live their dreams. We will stretch the most able, support those who start at a disadvantage, and protect and nurture the most vulnerable.

TEN PRINCIPLES

Underpinning our vision are ten principles that will determine the way in which we will all work together to achieve our goals:

1. Children are children first and foremost.
2. Every single child needs the chance to reach their full potential.
3. Families are at the heart of all our policies.
4. Intervening early is our motto.
5. We need to take special steps to reach out to those children, young people and families who may be struggling against disadvantage or discrimination.
6. Education is the greatest liberator in our collective battle to eliminate, or at least minimise, the impact of child poverty.
7. We need to ensure that we involve and engage children, young people, families and communities in the design and delivery of the services they receive.
8. There must be 'no wrong door' when people access our services.
9. We need to recognise the dedication and professionalism of our workforce.
10. We will need trusting and innovative partnerships.
